- 1.1. Breach action against a detainee may need to be taken for a number of reasons, including but not limited to:
 - a. non-compliance with Transitional Release Rules (refer to TRC Rules)
 - b. non-compliance with Leave Conditions (refer to D26.F5: Conditions of Leave)
 - c. non-compliance with Work Release Conditions (refer to Work Release Conditions and Acknowledgement by Detainee Form) note: form number TBD
 - d. failing to follow a direction (i.e. failure to provide a urinalysis sample on request)
 - e. change in detainee classification or Incentives and Earned Privileges (IEP) level, resulting in a detainee becoming ineligible for participation in Transitional Release.
- 1.2. Potential outcomes for a detainee where breach action has been proven, includes:
 - a. return to an earlier stage of Transitional Release which may limit access to certain types of leave (i.e. overnight family leave)
 - b. suspension from Transitional Release, including from the Transitional Release Centre (TRC) for a set time as determined by the Assistant Commissioner Custodial Operations.
 - c. exit from Transitional Release, including from the TRC with the detainee unable to reapply for six months in accordance with the D26.1 Transitional Release Application Process Operating Procedure.
- 1.3. Where behaviour that may result in breach action occurs while a detainee is on leave or at work (both AMC and external based work), the detainee must be returned to the TRC (or AMC if a Transitional Release Program (TRP) participant) immediately.
- 1.4. After organising for the detainee to be returned to the TRC (or AMC if a Transitional Release Program (TRP) participant), the staff member must notify the Transitional Release Team Leader (TL), who must take appropriate action regarding next steps. This may include securing a detainee in their accommodation area until a decision has been made regarding breach action. Should the Transitional Release TL be unavailable, the staff member must notify a Senior Director within the AMC.

- 1.5. The staff member must case note the alleged breach and complete an incident report on CORIS (in accordance with the Case Note Policy and the Incidents and Notification Policy).

The Transitional Release TL must ensure the detainee is given the opportunity (and support if needed) to complete their section of the D26.F4: Cancellation Notice. The Transitional Release TL must give the detainee written advice of their return to an earlier stage, suspension or cancellation from the program within 48 hours of receiving the Assistant Commissioner Custodial Operations' decision. This advice must also include information about what interventions or tasks the detainee must complete to be reinstated into Transitional Release (if suspended or exited from the program) and the timeframe before they can reapply (if exited).
